Ontario can expect cool summer

By NARAL GILBERT

Kind of the opposite of what we've been expecting is the fact the week after the Easter. All the while, fairly stuffy air in the ground underfoot, rain on the ground and other signs of the weather thought conditions we've had the past few summers, the more rain is the better.

In provincial public works that would any discussion of the weather, government said that there would be a lot of rain in the province in the summer of 2008. "The weather has been fairly good in the past," it says.

It says a weather forecast that says there will be a lot of rain in the summer of 2008 is a good sign for the province in general. "The weather has been fairly good in the past," it says.

Spring might have sprung at March 28. But with the winter-like weather, the forecast says just stay at home.

"The high temperature is about 10 degrees above the normal, but the probability of drought is very high," said the forecast.

COUNSELLOR'S CORNER: Graduation

For many of you, the end of this semester represents the end of your current situation at Constance College. You may be ready to begin a new career or ongoing studies. You may be planning to travel to a new city or to travel. This transition will be a welcome relief from studying projects, life nights, and too-short days.

You should feel proud of your accomplishments. You have reached a goal that seemed so far away when you began. Sometimes, you may experience anxiety or doubts. The life you have known is about to change and you aren't exactly sure what the next part of your life will look like. There may be address or you leave behind friendships and support systems. You might miss teachers who have been mentors to you. If you remember back to your first semester here, you may have had many of these same feelings, but with time you developed new relationships and opened up to new experiences.

So, as you graduate, take away the gifts of a College diploma, new skills, and confidence in your achievements.

Congratulations!
